

Types of visa available to become a permanent resident in Australia

Australia is the country that welcomes skilled professionals to work for the betterment of their nation. When you need to become the Australian Resident, there are different types of visa that help you to migrate to the country. Continue reading to know some of the most important and types of visas available that helps you in easy migration.

Subclass 190 Visa - Skilled nominated visa

Skilled nominated visa or subclass 190 visa allows the skilled immigrants to work and live as the resident in Australia. This visa is a permanent visa that allows the immigrant to nominate under the state or territory government. The eligibility for this visa includes:

- Age less than 45
- Relevant skills assessment
- Proficiency in English
- More than 65 points

Subclass 489 Visa - Skilled Regional Visa

Skilled regional Visa or subclass 489 visa is issued for the people who are eligible and nominated by the state or territory. This visa will be valid for 4 years and it allows you to live work and study in the given regional area.

Subclass 189 visa - Skilled independent visa

In the Subclass 189 visa that invites the skilled immigrants to live and work permanently at any part of the country. Applicants should qualify the needs of the permanent visa as per the norms of the country. The occupation should be medium or long term. There are certain eligibilities like,

- ✓ Age should be below 45
- ✓ Nominated by an Australian state or the territory government companies
- ✓ The occupation should be a relevant list of eligible skilled occupation

Working holiday visa

If you lie in the age limit of 18 to 30, and want to spend your holiday in Australia and work there, this visa is the right choice. You can work up to 6 months under particular employers and study for 4 months and leave back. However, it is not eligible for all and only people belonging to particular countries can apply for these types of visas.

Final thoughts

When you need the hassle-free process in Australia PR visa, it is important to seek help from the right person. With the proper guidance, you make the work process and move to the country with ease.