

Hi, Friends,

I am Raghunathan, a German language trainer, presently in Singapore and will move to New Delhi from 20th Sept. this year. I studied German from Max Mueller Bhavan, New Delhi. I have completed the Mittelstufe (Intermediate level), a 3-year course and have done a one-year Wirtschaftsdeutsch (commercial German) course.

I lived in Frankfurt for 5 years and also worked in some Corporates in India as a language consultant for German, which included providing translation support. During my stay in Germany, I had to often visit the nearby countries, and other places in Germany for organizing trade fairs and for business coordination which has given me a good exposure to the language and the country.

During the last one year, I have started enjoying and developed a passion for teaching German language and helping students upto A2 levels and taking short term courses for people visiting Germany for business purposes or planning for a longer stay.

I believe in creating a customised training programme for each student keeping in view their special requirements. Having studied English grammar extensively backed up with knowledge acquired in Sanskrit also helps me in explaining the concepts to students to deepen their understanding.

I am sure you will find my approach unique and appropriate for your language requirements.

I look forward to meeting you,

Raghunathan
