LAW : YOUR GATEWAY TO REWARDING CAREER

Career in and beyond courtrooms

From Mahatma Gandhi to Barack Obama, the list of luminaries who have used this profession as a stepping stone to greatness runs long and wide. Gone are the days when black robes and courtrooms were the bread and butter of lawyers. From swanky corporate offices to jobs in movies and the media, lawyers have moved many moons away from the conventional and now live very much in the real world.

Law school edge

As law incorporates diverse fields, it opens various options for law graduates. The demand for savvy law school graduates, with the requisite skills to handle key positions at leading organizations across diverse sectors, has surged dramatically. With a growing economy and an increasing number of foreign firms targeting the Indian market, the requirements of legal expertise will only increase, making law a very lucrative career.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKING

Litigation

The traditional career path is to “practice law” in the courts. But it is essential for any fresh graduate to learn the ropes under a Senior Counsel. The graduates are now supposed to qualify a Bar Exam before they join the Courts of Law. Litigation provides a wide range of employment options in both private and public spheres. You may specialize in a particular field of law such as Taxation, Constitution, Family, etc. You can choose to focus on appellate work, trial-level practice, civil litigation or criminal cases.

You may work with a company/corporate entity as an in-house legal counsel, advising on legal matters related to its business. An in-house counsel plays an important role in drafting, vetting and negotiating contracts; ensuring and monitoring compliance with rules and laws; and handling legal disputes. Private Sphere: One may join Multi National Corporations, Private companies, Private Banks, etc. Public Sphere: Counsels are also required in Government Agencies, Public Sector Undertakings, Public and Nationalized banks, etc.

Corporate Counsel

Law Firms

These are business entities engaged in the practice of law. A noticeable trend that has emerged in the last few years is to shift from solo practice to well organized law firms, which comprise several lawyers working together as one entity. As part of a law firm, one advises clients about their legal rights and recourses as well as other legal matters and represents them in trials.

Legal Process Outsourcing

Legal Processing outsourcing (LPO) is the delegation of core legal functions like making first drafts of cases, compliance work, legal research, etc. to an external counsel. The assigned task is completed on the basis of set parameters and fixed timelines. You can become an important part of reputed MNCs by forging a career in LPO.

Social Work

If you are passionate about socio-legal issues, then this is the right avenue for you. One may work with NGOs and Civil Society Organizations on issues based on environmental protection, gender concerns, caste discrimination, employment, working conditions, marginalization of various sections of the society, etc.

Law school graduates are also offered opportunities to work with international organizations such as the United Nations and with international tribunals like International Court of Justice, International Criminal Court, etc.

Judicial Services/Civil Services

The State Judicial Services Examination organized by the High Courts for their respective states, is a safe and sound option for those of you who look to pursue a stable government career. One may also opt for the Civil Services Examination conducted by Union Public Service Commission, which is the most prestigious examination in the country.

Academia

Are you looking for a career that provides intellectual stimulation and rigor? A career that not only allows you to pursue your intellectual interests and work on research projects but also offers a wide degree of flexibility and autonomy and pays you to read, talk and think? If yes, then teaching law to future lawyers is the career for you.

Media & Law

As professions, both journalism and law are intertwined as they require superior research and writing skills as well as a critical knowledge of the government and the legal system. Legal journalism covers legal proceedings in courts, arbitration events, criminal matters, etc., which are disseminated to the public.

Judicial Clerkship

A judicial clerkship is an extremely valuable experience for students interested in either litigation or transactional work; it provides invaluable insights into the workings of the legal system. Law clerks act as legal assistants whose duties vary from court to court and judge to judge.

A common myth misspelled

A common misconception is that the students who opt for law degrees are usually from the arts / humanities streams with a few exceptions from commerce stream. However you will be surprised to know that typically not more than 25 percent of students in top law schools are from arts/ humanities background. For example only 18 percent of the student's base at NLU Delhi comprised students from arts/Humanity Background. Infact this number was as low as 1.14 percent of NLSU Bangalore.

Students from different streams

School	Science	Commerce	Arts/Humanities
NLSU Bangalore	44%	55%	1%
WB NLUS Kolkata	65%	43%	22%
NLU Delhi	30%	30%	18%
NLU Jodhpur	46%	47%	7%

Looking at the number of the students from varied backgrounds who have been admitted to some of the top law schools, one can easily say that law is a carrier welcome and attracts students from all academic backgrounds.

Placements Nonpareil

Students from the top Law Schools don't need to go job hunting, the jobs come looking for them. Every year the best law firms in the country, not to mention top corporate houses set placement targets for their HR teams to ensure they don't miss out on the top talent in the country.

PLACEMENTS NON PAREIL

Legal knowledge has become essential for everyday business operations as well as for macro decisions. Accordingly, young law school graduates are being welcomed into business houses, consultancies, NGOs, national / international law firms and other institutions, to handle positions of responsibility.

Some big names hiring from law school are :

Management Consultancies like McKinsey & Co., KPMG, Price Waterhouse Coopers

MNCs like Hindustan Unilever, GE, ITC, WIPRO, Infosys;

International law firms including Linklaters (UK), Clifford Chance (UK), Allen & Overy

Indian law firms like Amarchand Mangaldas and AZB Partners

Options for a law school graduate are not restricted to law firms, consulting firms etc. as students successfully pursue careers in fields such as journalism, social service, research, academics, entrepreneurship and so on.

Starting salaries at the top National Law Schools are more than those at all other professional colleges, including the IITs! The only competition in this regard is with the top B-schools!
