About Me

I am a creative and detail-oriented artist with a strong interest in painting and sketching. My work explores a wide range of subjects, including fashion figurines, product illustrations, and everyday objects. I enjoy experimenting with different art media to understand form, texture, and visual balance.

Through my art, I aim to express ideas clearly while continuously exploring new styles and techniques. I see design as a space to observe, experiment, and grow, and I am eager to develop my creative skills further in a professional design environment.
