INTRODUCTION

A child is like a caterpillar, who protected in the warmth of a cocoon (his family, friends and neighborhood) gets transformed into a glorious butterfly.

Just like a cocoon begins to crack before the magnificent butterfly is released, you must also step outside your comfort zone before you enter the corporate world.

The journey from being a college graduate to becoming a corporate requires you to pass a few hurdles or rather tests, which test your personality, strength and ability to stand tall even through the difficulties faced by the company.

At Skill Arcade, we create a stimulated environment to train individuals to make them ready for a process filled with interviews, group discussions, stress interviews and more.
