THINK – ABOUT - DESIGN

Ink what you think

We are a group of young Architects who believe in a process driven teaching approach, where we pay emphasis on the learning process than the specific content itself. As a group of committed professionals we are striving to provide a qualitative educative method which enables the students to understand and comprehend the profession of architecture. There will be a wholesome approach involved in coaching the students to the path of excellence. The teaching method will be diverse and aiming at a complete understanding of the idea.
