

Adrian Joshua

3. Have a goal

Just going through your routine isn't the same as practising. Start with the end in mind by having a goal for each practice session before you start playing, you will find you progress much more quickly and effectively.

Then, break each goal down into smaller, focused objectives. You will also feel a sense of accomplishment as you complete each goal.
