

Bio

Today we have here with us Jatin Jain, an engineer by books & a photographer by passion. Hailing from Raipur with his home town being Korba, at the age of 29 he has already established himself as a commercial photographer with almost 7+ years of work experience in this field. After working with Dell International services as a senior representative for two years he decided to pursue photography as his profession. His passion of photography is backed up by his Diploma in fine arts photography from Indian Institute of Photography, Noida where he scored highest marks in his batch.

Product, travel, architectural, industrial, documentary, food, editorial, etc are some of the forms of photography mastered by him. He also believes and practices the lesson taught by his mentors during the photography contest won by him at BIT College 5 years back “Spread happiness of your art through teaching!” for which he has conducted multiple workshops across Delhi, Pune, Bhopal, Raipur, Korba training beginners, students, as well as professionals to master and excel the field of photography and pursue their dreams. He also conducted a free workshop named “Drastikon” which was for differently abled (deaf & dumb) children of Divya Jyoti School at Korba on special occasion of world photography day, a small contribution to spread happiness through his love for teaching the art of photography.

He was invited as the youngest mentor at the National Association of Student of Architecture convention 2015, Bhopal. He also won the first prize at Matargashti, Raipur for photography whereby honourable Shri Brijmohan Agrawal felicitated him for his achievement. Apart from photography he makes sporadic presence as - Vocalist, Poet, Guitarist, Socialist. His work has been regularly featured in different magazines as well as digital platforms. At present apart from working as a freelance commercial photographer. He also works as a faculty for Indian Institute of Photography, Noida & as a director of photography for VsnapU.com.

His love for animals is never ending. He believes that you can judge the heart of a person by his treatment to animals.
